B. Course Objectives and Learning Outcomes

1. Course Description:

The course will cover, in general, all the literary genres of the Victorian Age. After defining and explaining the Era, it will zero in on examples of texts like poetry and novel that highlight the salient features not only of these genres but of the period, being representative of its main trends and generalities and specificities. It will offer general knowledge of the Victorian Era or Age or terms like Victorian, Victorians and Victorianism. It will teach Victorian literature including its poetry, drama, criticism, journalism, prose, fiction and non-fiction by analyzing specific texts: Novels to be chosen from are: 'Hard Times' or 'Oliver Twist' by Charles Dickens or 'Mill on the Floss' by George Eliot or 'Wuthering Heights' by Emily Bronte or 'Jane Eyre; by Charlotte Bronte or 'Tess of the D'Urbervilles' by Thomas Hardy. Themes will include industrialization, colonialism, imperialism and morality but also the issue of writing and gender as choice as well as psychoanalysis, socialism and communism, feminism, the Gothic, realism etc. Poems to be chosen from are: 'Ulysses' by Lord Alfred Tennyson or 'Dover Beach' by Mathew Arnold or 'My Last Duchess' by Robert Browning as an example of the dramatic monologue. Poems to be chosen from are also: G M Hopkins' 'Wind hover' or 'Pied Beauty' as an example of the sonnet. Any sonnet from Sonnets to the Portuguese by E B Browning may also be considered.

2. Course Main Objective

What is the main purpose for this course?

The main purpose of this course is to give the student the knowledge of how to:

1. Understand a literary period and its background in terms of its history and other contexts.
2. Analyze on the basis of such general knowledge, when gathered and gained, selective literary texts in depth as examples of the period in question.
3. Interpret such texts keeping in mind to build adequate research skills and to make connections with other texts and periods in space and time in order to form larger wholes with other disciplines.
4. Compare the texts learned with each other and with others in a multi period, multi literary genres and multi-disciplinary manner, taking into consideration larger factors like milieu, political climate, tone, mood, and atmosphere.
5. Contrast characters and situations with each other as well as relationships in fiction.
6. Define terms like Victorian, Victorianism. industrialization, colonialism, imperialism and also literary terms needed for the course like dramatic monologue, lyric, sonnet, novel, fiction, poetry etc.
7. Evaluate the merit of works studied with reference to other periods of literature and in terms of content and in comparison.
8. Appreciate the finer aspects or details of works studied by going into elements of poetry or fiction or plot analysis at greater depth.
9. Illustrate with examples the detailing of these works in terms of elements of literature like irony, paradox and other such devices so that it can be noticed why they are classics of an age or place or space or time.
10. Label works and authors into their different kinds and types and categories like lyric, or realistic etc.
