

Dropping-Out & How to Handle it

A student is dismissed from the College of Engineering for an academic semester in the following cases:

If he has finished the prescribed period for graduation and did not complete the graduation requirements within a maximum period of (15) semesters

If he receives at most three consecutive warnings for his cumulative average drop below (2.00) out of (5.00).

The conditions of dismissed students are handled as follows:

If the student submits his application for the exceptional opportunity through his academic page within the specified period in the academic calendar as shown in the video, he may be granted an exceptional opportunity to complete the graduation requirements with a maximum limit of not more than twice the original period specified for the program (20 semesters).

A student who has been dismissed due to exhaustion for more than twice the program's duration (20 semesters) may be given a second chance for up to two semesters, for a total of 20 semesters, providing that the student completes at least 30 credit units.

A student who is academically dismissed because of warnings is given a fourth chance if the following conditions are met:

1. To submit his application for the opportunity through his academic page in the period specified in the academic calendar as shown in the video.
2. That he can raise his cumulative average assuming that he obtains (56) points from studying (14) academic units.

If the following requirements are met, a student who has been academically dismissed due to warnings is offered a fifth chance:

1. To apply for the opportunity via his academic page within the timeframe indicated in the academic calendar, as shown in the movie.
2. His last semester average should not be less than (2.00) out of ten (5.00).
3. That if he gets 56 points from studying 14 academic units, he can improve his cumulative average.
