

Graduate Attribute

1. Adequate knowledge in sciences related to radiographic techniques .
2. Identify best radiographic techniques to give high quality diagnostic radiographs.
3. Apply the principles of radiation protection and necessary care in all situations.
4. Critical thinking and solving problems in radiological sciences
5. Use of various technical skills in the field of medical imaging.
6. Leadership in a team work along through the clinical setting
7. Experience in self-directed learning
8. Engage with the scholarly community and respect others' views and perspectives
9. Act upon the ethical, social and global responsibilities among the area of work (radiographic clinical setting).